Learning From Home

Report to the Community 2019-2020

2019-2020 was certainly an interesting school year. It began like most school years with students and staff excited to see what the year may bring. It ended, however, very differently with the suspension of in-school classes and the start of Remote Learning with the practice of physical distancing. The shift from the classroom to the home was challenging but necessary and both school and community worked together.
